A Geodesic home for Wilmington?

Wilmington may possibly become the site of a geodesic home, if papers in the office of the Building Inspector are approved by that gentleman and other officials involved.

The home that is proposed for construction in Wilmington would be 36 feet in diameter, and entirely round, except for an entrance way which would contain a living room, and a car port. All windows would be in the form of blisters. There would be two stories, connected with a spiral stairway, and the upper story would have a bedroom, a bath, and a study which could be converted, the architects say, into a bedroom.

The master bedroom would be on the first floor, which would also have, of course, a kitchen and other living quarters, including a round fireplace, entirely within the building.

The building would have a wooden frame, and would comply not only with the Wilmington Building By-Laws, but with the more stringent BOAC (Building Officials Conference of America), according to the architect, Carl von Stettin. It would be constructed under a licensing agreement between Buckminister Fuller and Carl von Stettin. The estimated cost is $28,800, and the target for completion is Nov. 1, 1973.

The building would be a prototype for other buildings of the same country. It is proposed to be built for a Mr. and Mrs. Terence Golden of Lexington.

Planning board may oppose sale of land

There is a possibility that when the Wilmington Selectmen meet next Monday there will be a letter from the chairman of the Wilmington Planning Board, opposing the sale of a piece of town owned land to Maurice Fournier of Fitz Terrace.

The land is the site of a former boathouse, on Silver Lake. It is a small lot, of about 5000 square feet, maybe less. The Selectmen, in their last meeting agreed to sell the land to Fournier, with the sole exception being an agreement by Harold Melzar saying that he does not want the land. Mr. Melzar is the only other abuttor, besides Fournier.

The Town of Wilmington took title to the land a few years ago for non payment of taxes. In the June Special Town Meeting a warrant article proposed that custody of the land be transferred to the Conservation Commission. The article was submitted by the Selectmen, and according to reports the Conservation Commission did not know it was in the warrant until the members read the warrant.

Mr. Fournier and Mrs. Patty Ward opposed the action, in the Town Meeting, saying that if the land were to become part of the Conservation Commission property it would be a place for beer bottles and other trash. As things were, the land was being cared for by Fournier.

Fournier won in the Town Meeting, by a majority vote.

Wilmington Planning Board members, who are anxious that the town acquire all the land around Silver Lake, have discussed the proposition and are in accord that the Chairman of the Planning Board oppose the sale to Fournier.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH ORDERED IT DESTROYED

A BULDOZER LOADS A DUMP TRUCK: At the site of the former Smith's Bakery on Grove Avenue, destroyed yesterday morning by orders of the Wilmington Board of Health. The site overlooks Silver Lake, and will become a part of the Town Beach. In the background is the former Mildred Rogers School.

The Wilmington Board of Health, one week after the tenant of the former Smith's Bakery on Grove Avenue had left, ordered the building destroyed. This was done by a bulldozer yesterday morning.

The decision of the Health Board came after a week of recurrent breaks into the building by children and young people.

In one week nine padlocks had been put on the building by the Board of Health, and promptly ripped off by people who wanted to get in. All the windows were broken, all the copper plumbing was stolen, and the place was being used for immoral purposes, Board of Health officials say.

Board of Health officials discussed putting plywood over all the openings, but this idea was discarded when it was learned the plywood would cost $200.

The building was described as "filthy" by the Building Inspector, who inspected it Wednesday morning.

The old building, which dates to before World War I, was the site of a bakery operated by a man named Smith, and which lasted until about 1930.

In recent years it has been a multi-apartment building. It was taken by Eminent Domain vote of the Town Meeting a year ago, but for reasons that were never fully understood, a person was allowed to live in the building for one year at a rent of $1 a month.

That person finally left a week ago.

Fred Corum makes SENE

Attorney Fred Corum of Salem Street Wilmington arrived home last Thursday after a visit to Wenham with a new volunteer job.

Mr. Corum was one of 11 persons from Wilmington who were present at a Workshop for SENE - Southeastern New England study of the New England River Basins Commission. The workshop was in Gordon College, and there were a total of about fifty persons present including three or four who were accompanying husbands or wives and thus not really interested.

The public workshop was intended to get the general public into a participation of studies of the waters and related lands of the Ipswich River basin and the North Shore coastal area. It is being sponsored by SENE, and the goal is to involve local citizens into the co-ordinating, accelerating and implementing of wiser management efforts, for watershed resources. Both industrial interests and conservation interests had been invited, as well as well as government and active citizen groups.

Most of those attending seemed to be of conservation interests.

Attorney Corum found himself to be one of seven persons in the Steering Committee on Water Use.

Also in that committee were Roger Louamis of Reading and Lewis Gallo of Andover.

Some of the persons from Wilmington, those who took an active part, included Selectman Danny Gillis, Mrs. Madelyn McKie of the Finance Committee, Henry Columbo of Brentwood Ave., and Herbert Nickerson of Marie Drive.

Mr. Nickerson is Chairman of the Ipswich River Commission, and a professional hydraulic engineer.

$3.5 millions have been allocated by the Federal government for the studies of SENE, in a program that will not be completed until 1975.

The program last Thursday included three discussion topics: 1. Water with the discussion led by Mr. Nickerson, involving water supply, water pollution and ground water. 2. Related Land Uses, led by Mrs. Nancy Anderson of Reading, involving inland and coastal wetlands, flood plains, recreation, and coastal resources. 3. Land Use, led by a Mr. Ralph Whittemore, involving zoning, transportation, sand and gravel, erosion, and power supply.

ATTORNEY CORUM: (Arrow) at the SENE discussion last Thursday. Beside him is Mrs. Corum, and behind is Selectman Gillis. The leader of the discussion, in the foreground with papers in hand, is Herbert Nickerson of Marie Drive.

Police Association 2nd Annual Swim Meet

The Wilmington Recreation Department has scheduled its second Annual Swim Meet for Thursday, August 16th at the Town Beach. Sponsored by the Wilmington Police Association, the Beach Day at Silver Lake will provide events and competition for participants on the summer playgrounds.

Included in the days activities will be chess, checkers and volleyball tournaments. Each event will be broken down into age groups and interested children are reminded to sign up at their playgrounds for each age group: Six - dog paddle; Seven to eight, dog paddle and crawl; nine and ten, 11-12, 13-14 crawl and back stroke. The eight playgrounds will chose a co-ed volleyball team to compete against one another.

Lunch is to be provided by the Wilmington Police Association after the morning events (9-11) and awards will be given after the finals (1-3 pm).

Town Beach closed August 16th

The public is requested not to use the Town Beach at Silver Lake on Thursday August 16th from 9 am to 5 pm due to the playground's annual swim meet. If it should rain the event will be held on Friday, August 17th.

Spotlighters seek directors

The Spotlighters, Wilmington's amateur theater group, is seeking people to direct their forthcoming productions; Neil Simon's Act III of "Plaza Suite" for their annual dinner theater dance on November 10, and "Never Too Late", a comedy in three acts, by Sumner Arthur Long, which the group expects to perform in April of 1974.

The word amateur is stressed. Applicants need not have a great deal of previous theater experience. Anyone interested should call or write Bob Jennings, 4 Moore St., Wilmington, Mass. (658-8518) or Bernice Hubby, 24 Gunderson Rd., Wilmington, Mass. (658-8035) as soon as possible since the group hopes to go into rehearsal before the end of September for "Plaza Suite."

Boston Edison seeks extension of filing date for exceptions

Boston Edison, preparing to file exceptions to the recent Federal Power Commission Judge's ruling on Boston Edison's 1970 rates as "unjust" and directing the utility company to make refunds, has requested an extension of the filing date for its briefs from Aug. 23 to Oct. 23.

Two weeks ago presiding Administrative Law Judge Ernest O. Eisenberg made his ruling on four separate complaints of the Boston Edison rate filings. The complaints were consolidated for hearings.

Boston Edison plans to file for exceptions in the docket of the Municipal Light Boards of Reading and Wakefield and of the Norwood Municipal Light Department.

On July 19 Judge Eisenberg, on the basis of the hearing record, which covered 7100 pages of transcript and 153 exhibits found that Edison overstated its company-wide total cost of service; that its rate increase to wholesale-for-retail customers was excessive by $1.24 million; that Edison's service has been "less than satisfactory"; that damage to the competitive standing of the municipalities had occurred. He directed that Edison file revised rates and to make refunds of excessive amounts collected since May, 1970 plus an eight percent interest figure.

Boston Edison had 30 days in which to file exceptions on the July 19 finding. The Federal Power Commission has an additional 10 days beyond the 30 to initiate a review on its own motion.

It was anticipated at that time that Edison would appeal the decision. DeBevoise and Liberman, attorneys for Boston Edison in Washington, point out that because of the length of of the decision, 188 pages dealing with more than 50 issues, and the length of the hearing transcript, 7,100 pages with 153 exhibits, more time is needed to analyze the decision.

Wakefield no longer gets its power from Boston Edison. It switched from Edison to New England Power last December.

Dorothy Avenue residents are worried

The Town Crier, this week, was surprised to receive in the mail a Registered Mail letter, signed by some twenty persons, all residents of Dorothy Avenue, North Wilmington.

Their worries are about the new real estate development to the north of Dorothy Avenue, being developed by the Jackson Brothers. The Jackson Brothers, some months ago, discovered a problem - a place where a road was to go, it turned out, was a hole over 20 feet deep filled with water.

The Wilmington Planning Board told the Jackson Brothers to search out all alternatives. In this connection the Jackson Brothers proposed to two of the home owners of Dorothy Avenue that their homes be sold to the Jackson Brothers, so that the road be cut through.

The Jackson Brothers have never made an application to put in a road, via the space occupied by those two homes. They did report however, to the Planning Board.

The Planning Board has set a public hearing, for next Tuesday, in the former Mildred Rogers School. It seems that the subject will be the use of Arlene Avenue, without use of the "alternative" road, nor of the proposed road where the water hole was found.

As stated before, there has never been an application to the Planning Board to use the area of the two homes, for a new road.

Harnden Tavern

A Town Manager's White House?

Speculation continues, on the part of various officials, on the probable ultimate fate of the Harnden Tavern, taken by the town in an Eminent Domain vote in the June special Town Meeting.

Two or three members of the Wilmington Finance Committee, in a post meeting discussion, Monday night, came to a tentative conclusion that it could be used as living quarters for Town Managers of Wilmington, with a subsequent reduction in salary because of the living quarters.

In this way, they said, it could be both an historical museum and a place for a family to live, a family which would be most certainly appreciative guards of the building. And, dear to the heart of any Finance Committeeman, the town would be saving money in the process.

The Finance Committee, during their meeting, voted unanimously to transfer $1000 from the Reserve Account for an Architectural Survey of the old Harnden Tavern. Half of that amount would presumably be received back from the Commonwealth, as Matching Fundd.

Mrs. Shirley Callan of the Historical Committee told the Finance Committee that there is an August 15th deadline that has to be met, in order to get these matching funds.

The decision has to be made by October first, by the State, and Mrs. Callan feels certain that Thomas Leavitt, of the Bay State Historical League (he spoke at the special Town Meeting) will be designated to make historical and architectural feasibility studies of the old building, with recommendations for use, to the Town of Wilmington.

Such a study, she said, must be completed before June 1, 1974.

She also informed the Finance Committee that Alice Hathaway Dillaway, formerly of Wilmington, and a member of the family of Dr. Brown, has offered to give her papers relating to the tavern, and dating back to 1796.

NEW BOOKS AT WILMINGTON LIBRARY

The Complete Book of Bazaars: by Dorothea S. Britton covers all the details that go into mounting a fund raising event. It includes plans for bazaars keyed to seasonal and local themes; patterns and instructions for attractive products to sell and tips on displaying them. This book is the bazaar givers Bible.

The Terrarium Book: by Charles M. Evans. A terrarium is an environment in which plants grow and thrive in a glass container. The possibilities are limitless. This book provides instructions for planting and maintaining a terrarium. It is illustrated with beautiful line drawings and contains an encyclopedia of plants used frequently in terrariums.

In One Era and Out the Other: by Sam Levenson. Sam Levenson's loving, laughing reach of hands across the generation gap gathers us all together in the happiest book since his classic Everything but Money.

The Secret War Against Dope: by Andrew Tully. In a book crammed with Franch Connection style action stories of men risking their lives in car chases, gun battles and the infiltration of dope rings, Andrew Tully tells for the first time of the heroic work of the U.S. Customs agents, our front line fighters against the criminals bringing illicit drugs into the United States.

Ward 402: by Ronald J. Glasser. The scene is the children's ward of a great hospital, and the story a profoundly moving account of a young doctor's involvement in the life of an enchanting eleven-year-old girl afflicted with leukemia. This book centers around the human aspect of the hospital, the doctor and their functions.

The Best of Our Time: by William Stevens. Eliot Scanlyn has been picked by the administration to talk a militant black into taking a "high profile" post with the government. The White House has discovered that it is in trouble with the New Left in the coming election and this appointment will propitiate this block of voters.

Winespring Mountain: by Charlton Ogburn: Set in the coalfields of West Virginia and focuses upon the ravaging of the countryside by strip miners. Bird songs in the morning, the clash and thunder of machines, the fury of physical combat, the ardor of young romance, all mingle here in a novel with a highly dramatic story and an urgent point.

World Without End, Amen: by Jimmy Breslin: A novel about a 29 year-old New York City cop who goes to Northern Ireland. It may give readers of Breslin's comic first novel, "The Gang that Couldn't Shoot Straight" a considerable jolt. With his characteristic no-nonsense approach to reporting, Mr. Breslin has brought the troubles of Northern Ireland straight home to America.

Wither Avco?

Avco Wilmington is having troubles. The Crown Jewel, if the reader please, of Wilmington's industries, sometimes called Uncle Avco by this paper, is the one factor in town which does most to keep the tax rate as low as it is.

Avco last year paid over $700,000 in taxes, and it required very little in return from the town.

Now Avco, seriously, has been trying to get its taxes reduced. The facility which was built for the space programs of the 1960's doesn't fit into the much lesser programs of the 1970's. There is much empty space in Avco, which still has to be closed to the public, because of governmental regulations.

No one can blame Avco for trying to reduce taxes. There has been talk, of the confidential kind, in the Town Hall, about the difficulties of the facility, and of the request from Avco that the taxes be reduced.

Wilmington's assessments are based on an honest effort to be fair, and it seems that the Town Hall believes that the assessments made on Avco are fair and proper.

But, even in a large corporation, questions can be asked. Is Wilmington, for instance, assessing things which are already being taxed by the state under the Corporation tax? Are there parts of the devices which were used in the space program of 10 years ago which are now obsolete? Who today wants to buy a ten year old space program?

There was, it can be noted, something grim about the remark of the late Bobby Barrows, about 15 or 16 years ago, while Avco was being constructed. He looked at Avco while it was being built and predicted that someday, Wilmington would have that place, and it would become the finest Town Hall in the world.

It wasn't a joke with Bobby, but it was to those who heard the tale, and in a sense that same joke is alive today.

Avco is closing down its Lowell facility, and is having a discussion with the Lowell School Committee, because it rented facilities to that committee to be used as a school. The little darlings, as could be expected, are said to have done their worst.

Suppose Wilmington Avco were to pull out. It is possible. Would some other firm take over the place at the assessed valuation of today? Would the town take it over, for non-payment of taxes?

In that event, as Bobby Barrows said, would it become the finest Town Hall in the world?

There are a few people who, knowing of the difficulties of Avco Wilmington, have looked at the facility from Lowell Street, and Bobby Barrows wise have said it could be used as a new High School, instead of spending about $17 millions for a new high school on Salem Street.

Of course that too, is partly a joke, but it is a reflection on what some knowing persons are thinking about.

Devotions by Concerned Citizens

For the next few weeks there will appear in the Town Crier a number of Devotions written by the Rev. Peter Marshall, who was for two years, (1947-1949) the Chaplain to the United States Senate.

The Rev. Mr. Marshall, a native of Scotland, emigrated to the United States in 1927, and began his ministry in 1937. His vibrant love of God and his eloquence in preaching the Divine Word inspired his congregations. He died at the age of 46, on January 25, 1949.

Once an athlete, a steel worker, and a sailor, his prayers reflected the depth of his feeling for his adopted country, and for all that America had done for him. He was the author of the phrase "The measure of a life, after all, is not its duration, but its donation."

The cost of printing the Devotions have been paid in part by some concerned citizens, and in part by the Town Crier. Anyone who wished to participate may send donations to Devotions, Box 460, Wilmington. All donations will be acknowledged.

THE QUIETNESS OF PRAYER

Father, I ask Thee to take from me now all that does harass and annoy, all that has laid upon my heart burdens of anxiety and care. I thank Thee for the stillness of this time or prayer - this oasis in my busy day when I can relax before Thee, lay my burdens down, and hand over to Thee all my anxieties.

At this moment, I open my heart to receive Thy blessing, knowing that in Thy presence the furrows are being smoothed from my brow, the lines from my face, the load from my heart, the doubts from my mind, the fears from my soul, and I am at peace.

And now, I thank Thee, nor only for quietness without, but for Thy quietness at the heart of the universe and for quietness within. In Thy peace, I pray,

Amen

ALBERT L. PARSONS: Of 28 North St., Wilmington receives congratulations from Robert A. Yothers (right), Washington attorney and newly elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the 1½ million member Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the United States.

Mr. Parsons will soon be installed as District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for the North district of Massachusetts.

Armed robbers escape with $80

Two men held a clerk at knifepoint and robbed the Little Peach Store on Main in Tewksbury, August 7 at 3:29 a.m. They forced the man to lie face down in a back room before they estaped with $80.

Police said the men entered the store and appeared to be shopping while other shoppers were in the store. When the others left, police said, one of the men produced a knife and told the clerk they were robbing the store.

One of the men was described as six foot one inch tall, with long dark hair. The other was said to be five foot eleven inches tall with long blond hair tied in a pony tail.

Police, in racing to the robbery after the clerk called the station, saw a suspicious car on Hill Street, and when they approached it the car raced off.

The car was finally forced to the side of the road at the corner of Livingston and Chandler streets.

Three occupants of the vehicle apparently not the men who robbed the store, but the vehicle was a car reported stolen in Wilmington earlier.

All three occupants were charged with operating a motor vehicle without authority, including Bernard W. Trager, 17, of 570 South Union St., Lawrence, and two minors. The driver, a 15-year-old Tewksbury youth, was charged also with failing to stop for a police officer, having no license, speeding and operating a motor vehicle to endanger.

Arthur Keefe Jr. in the Army

Arthur Keefe Jr. of 224 Burlington Avenue joined the U.S. Army on July 23rd. He enlisted in the Boston recruiting office, and is now at Fort Dix, N.H. undergoing recruit training.

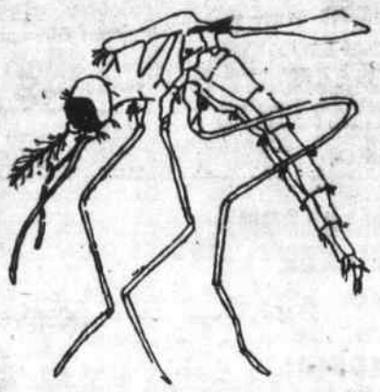

Perhaps it is almost valid to say that the U.S. Army joined Arthur Keefe Jr., for he has been one of the outstanding young men in Wilmington and a leader of his age group.

Keefe went through the ranks of Scouting in Wilmington to become an Eagle Scout. Having achieved the top rank as a Boy Scout, he then went to Tewksbury and helped to organize a troop for the Tewksbury - Wilmington Elks, of which he, at the age of 16, was a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster.

Later he transferred back to Troop 63, at St. Thomas Church, as Assistant Scout Master.

Interested in other things than Scouting Keefe was annually a participant in the Chamber of Commerce Clean-Up Drive, to mention other activities. He was very much interested in the ecology of Wilmington.

After completion of his basic training at Fort Dix, Keefe is to be sent to Texas for missile training, after which he will go to Germany for 16 months service with a missile batalion.

The Town Crier and Malathion

For those of the readers who may be interested, the product Malathion has been added to the list of things that the Town Crier does not like. Malathion is used to kill mosquitoes - spread on a cloud of kerosene, during calm evenings, with perhaps a dozen kids having a wonderful time in dashing into and out of the resulting cloud.

There are other anti-mosquito products that the Town Crier does not like too, some perhaps more deadly than Malathion. But Malathion has joined the list of items which the Town Crier feels does more harm than good to the human race.

Sodium Fluoride and DDT have been on that list for years.

DDT first made its bow during World War II, when a picture appeared on the front page of the U.S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes (Italy). It was, photographically and journalistically, one of the best feats of all time. It showed the victorious troops of the U.S. 5th Army, invading Naples, guns in hands.

There have been many such pictures, but never with the kind of guns the American soldiers used - for they were flit guns, so called, and the grinning bambini of Naples were dancing around the soldiers, getting puffs of DDT powder down into their clothing.

The idea was to get all the body lice killed, and thus reduce the dangers of typhus, and as such it was a very good measure for the U.S. Army to protect the lives of the invading soldiers.

It wasn't until a dozen or so years later that DDT was ever given adequate tests, and proven to be the destroyer that it is, by agencies of the US Government. The picture, on the front page of the Stars and Stripes, was, and still is an indictment of the US Public Health Service, and/or the Army Medical Corps, or whatever agency it was that approved it for use without adequate protection or tests.

The Town Crier was against the use of DDT. It still is.

As was once DDT nearly universally approved, so, today is Sodium Fluoride. Public Health agencies and other organizations seek to force communities to put sodium fluoride into the public water supplies.

The Town Crier stands against this. Pure water should be just that, and not a medium for medication. Sodium Fluoride can be introduced, it has been demonstrated, through the medium of milk, and through the medium of toothpaste. To force people to ingest something that might be proven, say twenty years from now, to have deletrious effects is wrong. The Town Crier is against this enforced medical practice.

Remember, the Town Crier is not a practicing physician, nor a chemist nor anything of the kind. It just believes that the common ordinary man should not be subjected to new items before they are adequately tested, and that he should be guaranteed clean water and clean air, neither of which should be used as a medium of forced medication.

For that is what the score is today, with Malathion. The air is now being used, as an enforcing agency, to get rid of mosquitoes. Oh yes, somebody is going to argue that, but people are being forced to inhale combinations of kerosene and other materials.

The kids dashing in and out of the clouds of Malathion spray, put out by the Town of Wilmington during calm evenings are of course in danger of being struck by a car. The Town of Wilmington worries about that.

Nothing is said of the possible effects twenty or forty or fifty years from now of the breathing of the materials in that cloud. Nothing has been proven - nothing has been disproven.

Call the Town Crier an old Fuddy Duddy. Maybe it is.

The methods advocated by the Tewksbury Mosquito Control Project were proven to work 70 years ago by Dr. Gorgas, in the Panama Canal Zone, and without enforced medication. He rid the Canal Zone of Yellow Fever and other diseases borne by the mosquito.

1. Eliminate all standing water.
2. Cover rain barrels with screening.
3. Keep pails and tubs upside down.
4. Seal all breaks and holes in cesspools.
5. Drain or oil unused cristerns and excavations.
6. Clean out clogged roof gutters and leaders.
7. Change water in flower vases every three days.
8. Bury or remove tin cans, old tires, etc.
9. Keep cellars dry.
10. Stock ornamental pools with fish.

The Ecology Committee of Tewksbury will be conducting hearings on the subject next Monday and Tuesday in the Town Hall, and again on Friday. This as a matter of interest.

The Tewksbury Mosquito Control Project is worth the attention of the public.

Get rid of old beer bottles and cans, and of the old tires that litter the road side. That's part of the message, and it is a good one. Unfortunately no one will pay attention.

Another Tewksbury Patrolman retires

Tewksbury Ptl. Leith N. Westaway has notified town selectmen he will retire from the police force effective September 1.

Westaway, 44, cited health reasons for his retirement.

The selectmen, who received his notification July 31, immediately notified the state civil service commission it seeks a seventh patrolman for the town. Voters approved an five-man increase in police strength at the town meeting, and another patrolman retired in the spring.

Due to delays in receiving lists of qualified applicants from civil service, no patrolmen have been added to the police department by the selectmen yet.

When Wilmington Sold Beef to Lynn

Beef, the world is being told, at least the World of the United States, is in short supply. Prices are going to go up.

Most of the beef today is shipped from ranches in the mid-west, a number of which are supposed to be owned by insurance companies who, it is said, know a good thing when they see it, the good thing in this case being the subsidies paid farmers by the Federal government for the past forty years or so.

In the days before beef began to be a refrigerated produce of the mid-west, and for some years after, Wilmington was a place which furnished quite a bit of beef to eastern Massachusetts.

The cattle were not raised in Wilmington. They were raised elsewhere and slaughtered in Wilmington, whereupon enterprising merchants loaded their carts with choice cuts and went to the suburban Boston cities, where they sold to the houewives and others.

It was quite a business. It may possibly have started as early as 1850. Most certainly it was in full swing by 100 years ago. The last men to sell beef from wagons were working in the 1920's, and one of them lived and sold beef until sometime after World War II.

Early shipments of beef used to come in over the Boston & Lowell Railroad, from New Hampshire. The cattle were unloaded into a stockyard of sorts, along side the railroad and Main Street, opposite to Clark Street, according to early tradition. This must have been before the Civil War, but there is no way of dating the business.

By the time of the Civil War William E. Gowing of Andover Street had a thriving business. Perhaps he had cattle shipped in by the Salem & Lowell Railroad - there is no way of knowing. His partner, before the Civil War was a man named Armour. They had a butcher shop in Lawrence. Armour wanted gowing to go with him to Chicago, where wholesale meat businesses could be established. Gowing refused, and stayed home.

The name of Armour is well known now throughout the world, in the meat industry, as is the name of other enterprising men who went out west at that time and got into the meat industry.

William E. Gowing didn't to so badly, staying at home, but eventually the local meat industry of Wilmington was defeated by the move that Armour and others had made. Local butcher shops could be set up with ease, and sell refrigerated meat from Chicago. There was no need of the enterprising butchers of Wilmington going to Lynn and other places to sell meat, and the local meat industry died - a slow and lingering death in some instances.

Perhaps, possibly, the man who did the most to bring the butcher business to Wilmington was a man named Horace Sheldon. Horace was a son of the Asa G. Sheldon who started the blacksmith shop at Perry's corner, among other things, and whose autobiography can be found in the Wilmingto Memorial Library, under the title of Wilmington Farmer.

Horace called himself a Drover. That's a man who drove cattle. He bought cattle at the Brighton abattoir and sold the cattle in Wilmington to the men who slaughtered and butchered.

Horace would make a two or three day trip of it. He would take the train to Boston, go to Brighton and buy his cattle, and then, with the help of his Collie, he would drive the cattle over the roads and highways toward Wilmington.

His first goal was the Ruel Carter farm, which was at the Woburn - Wilmington line in Woburn. There he would stay overnight, and early next morning he would be going up what is now Main Street and Eames Street, to the various Wilmington farms, with his cattle, and of course his helping dog.

As he passed each farm the owner would come out and purchase the cattle he wanted.

Perhaps there were a dozen farms that Horace served. The writer is not certain of the number. Perhaps there were more. One of them was his father's old place, on Woburn Street, which was rigged to be a butcher shop, as were the others.

Each of the farms in the business had a "butcher wheel". That is not the proper name. The proper name seems to be lost, at least to this writer.

A "butcher wheel" had an axle of wood, at least six inches in diameter and sometimes 18. The axle was six feet long, or maybe eight feet. The wheel would be located high up, in the barn.

On that axle was a rope or two, with hooks. The cattle would be picked up by their hind feet, and hung at a convenient height so they could be butchered. On one end of the axle was a huge wheel, which provided the leverage for picking up the cattle.

Sixty years ago there were several barns in Wilmington with such "butcher wheels." Now there seems to be none. Part of a wheel lies beside the barn of Mrs. Ethier, on Woburn Street. That was where, 100 years ago, Charles Buck conducted his butchering business.

Don't say Charlie Buck. It was Charles, and he lived to be over 90 years old. And to distinguish him from his neighbor up the street, also a butcher, that relative was named Charles H. Buck.

That's the way it was in Wilmington 100 years ago. With a population of less than 1000, there were always duplicate names, especially among the Buck, Carter and Eames families. As a general rule names were fully pronounced, or there were distinguishing nicknames or middle initials.

Take William Henry Carter, who lived on Hardscrabble in the 1850's. Today Hardscrabble is called High Street. In the 1870's another William Henry Carter moved into town and bought the farm on Shawsheen Avenue at Bridge Lane. He was known as Bill Hen Carter, and the farmers of Wilmington sort of took that to their hearts. William Henry of Hardscrabble, being the senior, became, at least to a degree Bill Hen One, and William Henry of Shawsheen Ave. was known as Bill Hen Two.

The last butcher wheel to be built in Wilmington was probably that of Thomas Sidelinker, in the barn that stands alongside the Woburn Street School.

The Sidelinker house was built about 1876, and the barn about the same time. The writer is not certain of the date. Sidelinker put in a lot of equipment for his butcher shop.

THE WILLIAM E. GOWING BARN: On Andover Street, Wilmington, with one of the early meat wagons backed up to receive beef. This picture was evidently taken shortly after the Civil War.

VISITING IRISH YOUTHS: Here as part of "Operation Friendship", watch Miss Evelyn McGuire of Wang Laboratories, Inc., Tewksbury, demonstrate the Wang 1200 Word Processing System. The group of nine youths and their advisors spent several hours touring Wang's facility discovering how the 1200 and Wang programmable calculators are made and what they can do.

Visiting Irish four Wang labs

For a group of Irish youths visiting New England this summer, the often mysterious world of electronics has become more understandable. Their many questions were answered after touring Wang Laboratories, Inc., in Tewksbury. One of the world's leading manufacturers of advanced programmable calculators and word processing systems.

The group of nine Irish young people and their advisors stayed with local families for three weeks as part of "Operation Friendship", an international youth exchange program partly sponsored by Tewksbury's churches.

After being greeted by Dr. An Wang, President, the group and their Tewksbury hosts spent several hours discovering just what a programmable calculator is, how it works and what it can do.

They followed the production route, from research and design through manufacturing and testing and then watched demonstrations of several finished products.

The group was served a real "New England" dinner in the company cafeteria before continuing on their local tour.

Kindergarten Director to be appointed tonight

The Wilmington School Committee will appoint the Director of Kindergartens at its regular meeting on Thursday evening, August 9th.

During the meeting the School Committee will give further consideration to a request for the use of the Boutwell School facilities for a prison release educational program and will approve the appointment of the School Business Manager to be a deputy purchasing agent for the Town of Wilmington. They will also appoint new teachers for the 1973-74 year.

The meeting will be held in the School Committee conference room at 159 Church St. at 9 pm. (Note the change of time).

Mosquitoes discussed

A public meeting on mosquito control procedures and practices was held August 2 at Tewksbury town hall. After the meeting, volunteers were asked to distribute a few of the pamphlets the committee had had printed.

Many of the 30 persons who attended took the phamphlets, after they heard Larry Uhrlich, an entomologist, say many problems were due to humans' not understanding the mosquito situation. He pointed out that many people, contractors, businessmen and residents, have contributed to the increase in mosquitoes by creating breeding places on their property.

There was a showing of slides which illustrated much about mosquitoes. Drainage of "potholes", which exist for from several weeks to year round, is one of the most effective methods of control. Larvicides applied at critical times, cleaning catch basins (Tewksbury highway department just converted a truck for this purpose last year), and cleaning streams of debris are very effective control measures also.

James Lennox, a health board member, pointed out that residents could be very effective in controlling mosquitoes at no expense to themselves or the town or they could appropriate funds and pay a few workers to do it for them, but "don't expect everyone's problem to be taken care of next year because a few doing the job will take time."

Dawn Clark, ecology committee chairman, will try to get additional people interested in distributing the pamphlets to the rest of the residents. She believes this is the best way to get the information to each resident.

"Personal contact also will attract more attention and can not be thrown into the waste basket as easily as a mailed flyer," she says. "With all those who complained, I was surprised at the response when we asked them to help. I guess they aren't being bitten anymore!"

Miss Clark said anyone can call her at 851-4419 or call the board of health office at 851-6371 and volunteer to distribute pamphlets to a few houses. She hopes the pamphlets will be distributed to all residents prior to August 13, when the first mosquito hearings will be conducted to isolate problem areas in the town.

Those assigned to Winchester will be in their first year of residency and will have completed an approved internship.

On Sunday, August 5th, to the amazement of many spectators t Northwood N.H's. bicentennial celebration, Mrs. Anne Mahoney of 39 Oakdale Rd., Wilmington hurled a rolling pin over 75 feet and easily walked away with first prize. HOME OWNERS CORNER by Roger

When you have finally got the old finish off a piece of furniture, your work is definitely not at an end!

Next, smooth the entire piece by sandpapering. Use the two finest grades of sandpaper and be sure you only rub with the grain of the wood. Rub until the wood is very smooth.

Rub your hand along each surface to test it for imperfections you cannot see. Small scratches will show up later unless removed thoroughly.

A large and complete selection of unfinished furniture, hand and power tools and paneling are in stock at Sweezey Home Courtesy Center, 615 Main St., Wilmington, 658-2051. Unfinished furniture includes hardwoods and we have over 150 sheets of paneling on display including Royalcote, Barclay, Weldwood, Georgia Pacific and Abitibi. BankAmericard and Master Charges are honored. Open: 8 am to 5 pm daily. Store is air conditioned for your comfort.

Helpful Hint: The small electric sander will save endless time and elbow grease.

Let's Talk Real Estate
by Alan E. Fenton, Realtor

What's the relationship between the seller of real estate and the real estate broker?

When you list your property with a real estate broker, you are making an appointment with him. You are saying that if he can find you a buyer who is ready, willing and able to buy your property, you will pay him a commission.

Once the property is sold, you are obligated to hold up your end of the bargain. Most people find that this is the easiest way to avoid all the headache involved in selling property.

And that's why you should list your property first and only with A & M Fenton Realty, Inc., 104 Lowell St., Rte. 129, Wilmington, 658-3221, 944-6457. We are members of the MIS to assure you of maximum coverage and will bring only qualified buyers to see your home thereby avoiding dozens of unnecessary people tracking through. Hours: 9-5, 7 days a week; eves by appointment.

Helpful Hint: Always test plumbing when in the market for a new home. It should operate quietly.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS by Louse

What happens to the bodies of space men during their rides in space? According to Patrick Young, well known science writer, all sorts of changes occur.

The body craves food less, for example. It turns out that men in space eat about two thirds of what they would eat on earth. Movement is more easily accomplished and brings less fatigue because of weightlessness.

A weight loss is almost inevitable for space men. After returning home, the body must again accustom itself to earch conditions which it does within a few short days.

W.R.S.L. Day by Day

Tue. July 31st...Smithcraft exploded for seven runs in the bottom of the first inning and held on to beat Sweetheart Plastics, 8-4. In the seven-run outburst Bernie Wagstaff singled to left to score Ralph Barden from second base with the fifth and what proved to be the game winning run. Smithcraft out hit Sweetheart, 10-9, but Sweetheart stranded eleven men on base and this proved to be a factor. Dick Elliot hurled the win while Buzzy Coulliard took the loss.

Wed. Aug. 1st...Polychemical held a 1-0 lead for five innings, but Sweetheart's Danny O'Connell singled to center to score winning hurler Buzzy Coulliard and tie it at one in the sixth. In Polychemical's half of the sixth John Rose was thrown out bunting, Bill Lyons singled, and Tom Yentile hit into a 6-4-3 double play to end the threat. Sweetheart picked up two runs in the top of the seventh on three base hits and a pair of Polychemical blunders. Dan Desmond singled to center to score Stan Sheltra with the deciding run, and an overthrow at third allowed Bruce Sweet to score with Desmond moving over to third. The divisional leaders next two men popped up to end the inning. In the last of the seventh, Polychemical had two men single, but left them stranded and Sweetheart won the game by a score of 3-1.

Sun. Aug. 5th...Compugraphic held a 4-0 lead going into the last half of the fifth inning only to have Tabby tie the contest on four hits and three errors. Joe Schier scored what proved to be the game winning run for Compugraphic in the sixth inning on a sacrifice fly to center by O'Reilly. Compugraphic picked up seven more runs in the top of the seventh to put the game out of Tabby's reach. Dave Egan went the full seven for Tabby giving up 14 hits and 12 runs in recording the loss, while Art Chagnon hurled the win...In the second game of the triple-header, Sweetheart trounced K of C, 18-8. The Plastic club slammed a total of 20 hits, four of which were home runs by Steve Lein, Ed Doherty and Nick Katramados (two, one an inside the park). Losing hurler Jim Hachey belted a pair and drove in two runs.

...In the nightcap, Polychemical fought off an 8-5 4½ inning Smithcraft lead to come back and put themselves in control, 10-8. Poly then yeilded three runs to Smithcraft in the sixth to hand Smithy an 11-10 margin. Smithcraft could not hold onto the gift and returned the favor by letting Polychemical tie the game at eleven all in the last of the seventh. In the top of the eighth, winning hurler Dick Elliot led off with a single, and an errant throw put him on second. Phil Butler dropped a bunt single and the attempted throw went through the first baseman's legs and out into the outfield. Elliot and Butler both scored on the play. John Jasilewicz led off the last of the eighth with a single, but three straight outs ended the game with Smithcraft winning, 13-11.

Mon. Aug. 6th...In the only game of the evening, Silver Lake edged Jay-Dee, 3-2. Paul Lyman led off the seventh with a single, advanced to second on a passed ball, and stole third. Tom Mazzipica hit a sacrifice fly ball to left field to score Lyman with the game winning run. Jerry O'Reilly spun a neat two-hitter in the losing effort, allowing only one earned run.

GIRLS' ICE HOCKEY

Thur. Aug. 2nd...The Nuggets had their five game win streak snapped by the Broadey Bunch in a thrilling 1-1 tie. The Green club parlayed the excellent net minding of goalie Cindy Laquidara and the defensive work of Janice Gennetti and Debby Ryan. Brenda Rossi scored her third goal in two games to give the Broadies a 1-0 first stanza lead, only to have Doria McMillan tie the game late in the middle frame at 11:11.

In the nite cap the Rowdy Blacks lived up to their name as they routed the Barons, 15-3. Mary-Ann Langone led the winners with six goals, while teamates Tammy Oliveira and Lori McNabb scored five and four goals respectively. Leslie Arnold continued her fine play, scoring a three goal "hat trick" for the cellar dwelling Barons.

BOY'S SOFTBALL

Wed. Aug. 1st...Jo-Appes' whipped Rocco's twice, 12-0 and 8-4 to move into a first place tie with FBR. Jim Coolidge pitched both games, spinning a three-hitter in the opener. Chuck Duggan (2) and Mike Falzone (1) slammed homers for the winners.

Mon. Aug 6th...MaGoon's posted their second straight seasonal win in the opening game of a twin bill, whipping DRO, 7-2 behind the pitching of Kris Minxman and the home run hitting of Tiger Caira. In the second game DRO bounced back to edge MaGoons, 5-4 with Tom Tower picking up his third seasonal win. Bob Frongillo slammed a solo homer for the winners.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

Fri. Aug 3rd...The women's club edged St. Theresa's of Methuen, 7-6 scoring the winning run in the last of the sixth on a throwing error by the Methuen catcher. Mary-Ann Langone hurled a guttsy game to pick up her third seasonal win. Defensively Patti Griffin turned in some sparkling plays at shortstop to preserve the win.

Sat. Aug. 4th...The Rec's "B" squad lost their second straight, bowing to St. Theresa's, 23-2 while the "A's" were white washed by Methuen's league leading All-Stars, 32-0.

Mon. Aug 6th...St. Mary's of Chelmsford broke open a close 3-2 game with eight third inning runs and went on to rout the Rec's "B" club, 17-8. Denise Dorval led Wilmington with a pair of singles, while Lydia Nolan and Lynn Hastings had a single each.

BASKETBALL

Mon. Aug 6th...The Knicks topped the hustling Lakers, 22-19 in a closely contested game. Dave McMillan led the winners with 10 points with Bryan Murphy chipping in with eight.

In the men's loop Old Milwaukee clinched first place with a convincing, 73-27 triumph over undermanned Archie's. Mark Nelson and Paul Ritchie led the winners, with 16 and 14 points each and Doug Stewart chipped in with 12. Cliff Clark hooped 10 for Archie's.

The Bushmen came from behind in the last minute of play on the strength of two tip-in baskets by Ed Thomas to edge Ralph's, 58-56. Thomas led the Bushmen attack with 23 points, while Bob Noel chipped in with 12. Gene Baldwin and Pat Simmons hit for 20 and 18 points respectively for Ralph's. The margin of difference came in the second half as the Bushmen came from a 32-24 half time deficit to pull out their second seasonal win.

CAR CORNER

by Vern Johnson

It is not as difficult to understand a four-cycle engine as it may seem.

The four-cycle engine uses four strokes of the piston per cycle. The first stroke draws in the fuel; the second compresses it. The fuel is then burnt with a third stroke of the piston, a power stroke, which supplies power to the car. The fourth stroke is used to evacuate the burned gases from the system.

The intake and exhaust valves in the car are what control the intake and output of fuel and fumes: you can see why the timing has to work perfectly!

Your car will work perfectly with expert service from Wilmington Ford, 275 Main St., Rte. 38, Wilmington, 658-6800. Our service and parts dept. is one of the most modern and complete in the area to assure you of the finest service, and attempts to insure same day service whenever possible. We feature the latest in electronic diagnostic equipment and technical know-how. Hours: Service, 7:30-9 Mon-Fri; 7:30-5 Sat.; sales, 9-10 Mon-Fri; 8-6 Sat.

Helpful Hint: Braking hard at high speeds can lock your wheels: it is better to steer around most traffic hazards when travelling fast.

K of C - Wilmington Recreation Third Annual Olympics

WATER MELONS ARE THE PRIZES OF VICTORY: And these young ladies from the North Intermediate Playground are the winners of the K of C/Wilmington Recreation Olympics, last Friday. They are seated on the ground with their trophies, while the boys from the same playground lend a sort of moral support.

THE WOBURN STREET PLAYGROUND CHAMPS: Were boys from that area, and they were awarded watermelons, as prizes, in the Olympics. The young ladies, in this case, provided the background support.

SOFT BALL THROW: Eighty-six feet and eight inches, by Doug Catania, of the Swain School Playground.

LONG JUMP: By Joe Vangren of the Boutwell Playground.

RED SOX TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE

Tickets for the Red Sox-California Angels contest at Fenway Park on Friday, August 10th are available on a reservation basis for all Wilmington youths ages 13 thru 18.

Those wishing to attend should contact the Recreation Office (658-6512) or Dick Scanlon (658-2408) as soon as possible. The trip will cost $4.00 per person, this price includes a reserved seat and the bus fare. Buses will leave the High School parking lot at 6 pm.

NORTHEAST BASEBALL LEAGUE

Wed. Aug 1st...Nashua whipped the Recs for the second time in three days, this time white washing the Recs, 4-0. The only hits made by Wilmington were singles by Barry Foster, Mike Sugrue, Tom Woods and Paul McCauliffe. Sugrue (1-0) took the loss, allowing eight hits and four runs in his five inning stint.

MICELI CLUB DROPS TOURNEY OPENER

The Wilmington entry in the Lexington Youth Baseball Tourney could not put across the key hit in various situations and came up short in a preliminary round game last Saturday, bowing to host Lexington, 3-1.

Chris Rounds allowed only four hits in a losing cause, Jim Sugrue made an outstanding diving catch going to his right in right center field to save a run in the fourth frame. The Miceli Club left nine runners stranded as they could muster only three hits. The lone Wilmington run came in the bottom of the seventh on a walk to Rounds, Maloney single and Gravallese's sacrifice fly. A double play with two runners on put an end to the last-ditch rally.

WEEPING HILL

$3000 for Engineering

Three thousand dollars was transferred from the Reserve Account, Monday night by the Wilmington Finance Committee, to pay for engineering services along Chestnut Street, because of the waters coming from Weeping Hill. The vote was unanimous.

Chairman James Banda of the Wilmington Selectmen reviewed the situation for the Finance Committee. Mr. Banda did not discuss the problem of Walter Rooney, he who is getting 86,000 gallons a day in his yard, but he discussed nearly all other aspects, including the fact that water from Weeping Hill, going into a town culvert, is flooding the rear of the Babine property, and land of Bill Magee.

The money that was voted is to be used to prepare plans for a drainage system along Chestnut Street. The drainage system, when made cannot be used to drain private properties, but drains can be put through private properties if permission is given to the town, was the understanding of the Finance Committee.

After the vote one member of the committee spoke up to say that he hoped the Town Manager would not employ the Boston firm of civil engineers who had prepared the plans for the Burlington dam. Town Manager Morris said he hoped to employ some local engineering firm, as he believed prices would be better.

George Murray is all smiles

"I have to give them hell because they work too fast." This is George Murray's way of saying that he is pleased with his "Rent-a-Kids."

George, who lives at 1 Church Street, also declares that he and his wife are "perfectly satisfied" with the work performance of Bethy and Judy Lefavour of 76 Glen Road.

Both girls do light housekeeping chores for the Murrays. Judy says that she and her sister find the Murrays "really pleasant" to work for.

The Murrays and the Lefavour sisters came together through the "Rent-a-Kid" program operated by Share/Morningstar of Lowell. Judy and Bethy Lefavour learned about the program in school. The Murrays found about it through the Wilmington Town Crier.

"Rent-a-Kid" tries to match kids with jobs. Thus far, there have been more kids than jobs. Fifty Wilmington youths have applied with the program. Twenty-five jobs have been registered and the number is increasing steadily. Call 454-9981 to list a job or to register to work.

Murrays says that his only problem with the girls was getting them to slow down and take it easy. "No job is done right if it's done fast - except for the three-minute egg," he said with a grin.

GEORGE MURRAY: And Judy Lefavour, as she dusts off the TV as a part of the housecleaning program, in the job she got through "Rent-a-Kid" program.

WILMINGTON PLAYGROUND NEWS

Boutwell

Last Tuesday the Green Machine travelled to Red Raider territory (North). The Boutwell boys won their initial victory in both softball and hockey. They won 6-4 in softball and 6-5 in hockey which was highlighted by a five goal performance by John Sanborn. The other tally was by Carl Borgeson.

The girls dropped both tilts to the Raider girls.

Thursday and Friday were Olympic Days. Fine performances were turned in by Terry Dickerson, Sue Lawler, Lenny Licari and John Sanborn. Many thanks to those who participated and to all mothers who drove youngsters to school after the rains came on Thursday.

Future events: Aug. 14th, Boutwell @ Glen Rd.; Aug. 15th, Family night cookout; Aug. 16th, Swimming Meet.

Glen Road

The Glen Road playground has been a busy place this past week. On Tuesday the Blue Bandits hosted the Shawsheen Brown Bombers in inter-playground competition.

In street hockey action the girls demolished the Bombers with a big 5-3 win. Gale Fullerton play superbly in the net, while Kathy Costello and Jane Conlin went after the goals.

In boys action, fine stick handling by Joey Tkachuk and Marty Sullivan led the senior boys to a 11-2 victory, while the little men pulled a close win at 5-4. In softball Glen Road came out on top once again with a 15-3 triumph for the girls and an 11-0 win for the junior boys. The senior boys won a surprising 5-4 victory.

On Wednesday and Thursday, arts and crafts projects were done in preparation for the upcoming exhibit. Popsicle stick cabins, pot holders, finger paintings etc. were done on Wed., while on Thursday Essie Foley helped the children work with gimp.

The Tiny Dodge Ball champ for the week is Kenny Colbert. The Monkey Bar Champ is Andrew Murphy and the Pull Up Champ is John Murphy. In the star chart championship, Danny Marshall, Lisa Lombard and Timmy Robarge are battling it out for the most stars. At the end of the year the youngster with the greatest number of stars will receive an award.

A North Reading playground will travel to Glen Road this week to try their luck with the Blue Bandits.

Woburn St. Olympics

The strong Woburn St. track team displayed an awesome attack, wracking up some 75 points. Jim Taylor, the six year old bombshell won both the 30 and 50 yd dashes while Den Moran placed second both times.

Ted Moran won both the 30 yd dash and placed in the eight year old high jump while Bob Miele tied Ted in the 30, also placing third in the 50 yd dash.

Bob Magliozzi, Brian Sughrue and Ed Harding rounded out the scoring in the eight year old group with third place tie in the high jump. In the 9-10 year old action, Dan Munroe with a pressure jump finished second in the long jump, but the leader in this group was Scott Richards with a total of 10 points, 1st, 60 yd, 2nd, 100 yd, 2nd, ball ghrow, 3rd, long jump. Finally brother Craig Richards placed third in the ball throw to rack up an important point.

The oldest group also proved fruitful for the powerful Woo-Woo Woburn St. Orangemen Todd Richards with a throw of 162 feet easily defeated his closest rivals while Tim Sughrue accomplished a double victory in the high jump and the long jump.

The Woburn St. girls chipped in 13½ points to cement an over all outstanding victory for the playground. Allison Nolan took an easy first in the six year old 30 yd dash and would have swept the 50, but for a bad spill. Kerry Munroe contributed a second place in the seven year category. The Ryan girls ran well in the 7-8 and 9-10 races, adding a few points to the total. Terry Sughrue, the lone entry in our 11-12 races contributed a second place to complete the point total.

Shawsheen

Wednesday - prepared for the Olympics. Thursday, we went to the High School to participate in the Olympics which were rained out and rescheduled for Thursday.

Tina Coyne was one of the finalists for the long jump and the high jump, which she won. Mary Olshaw and Ed Olshaw were both in the long jump finals and Collette Desharnais was in the finals for the high jump.

On Monday a wiffle ball game was enjoyed and on Tuesday we are going to the Wildwood playground to compete in street hockey and softball.

Swain

The special program took part in the second annual town-wide Olympics on Friday. Seventy-five to eighty percent of the handicapped youngsters actually participated in the events.

Cathy Schults placed first in one field event and second in two others. Chucky Taylor placed second and third in two running events. Suzanne Schultz placed second in one field event and Keith MacDonald placed first in a field event.

Eight other youngsters also placed in the finals, but didn't make the top three.
